Charity Registration: It's the Law.

Does your nonprofit organization raise money? If so, most states require charity registration prior to legally fundraising in that state. Registration is not based on where your organization is located; instead, it depends on where you are soliciting donations. Appeal letters, newsletters, emails, social media and other communications may qualify as solicitations.

Does your organization comply with the current state-specific laws? If not, or if you don't know, Clearly Compliant can help. Call for an assessment today: 319.730.7706.
